Description

We are looking for a REMOTE JD Edwards WFM Senior BA to join our team in Houston, Texas. The successful candidate will be tasked with understanding business processes, identifying process improvement opportunities, and translating these solutions into technical specifications that can be implemented in various applications supporting our business processes. This role will serve as a bridge between the corporate, business unit, and IT development and support functions.

Responsibilities:

- Provide detailed functional knowledge of JD Edwards WFM business process model.
- Derive requirements for process change or addition to applications using various methods such as interviews, document analysis, requirements workshops, surveys, site visits, task and workflow analysis.
- Evaluate information gathered from multiple sources, reconcile conflicts, decompose high-level information into details, and distinguish between essential needs and nice-to-haves.
- Contribute to the development and maintenance of current functional and systems documentation, business process flow diagrams, and end user training materials.
- Participate in the development and execution of comprehensive test plans, testing activities, and test data.
- Engage in data conversion and merger/acquisition activities.
- Balance involvement in multiple initiatives simultaneously.
- Serve as a Subject Matter Expert for all sub-processes for the WFM and related modules of JD Edwards.
- Plan, schedule and arrange own activities to accomplish objectives under general direction.
- Design solutions for a variety of complex problems.
- Act as a mentor to lesser experienced Business Analysts.
- Liaise with many business users in different locations and countries.

Requirements
